Participation: from tyranny to transformation?

Exploring new approaches to participation in development
Acknowledgements | x

ONE | From tyranny to transformation? 1

1 Towards participation as transformation: critical themes and challenges 3
SAM HICKEY AND GILES MOHAN
Setting the scene 13 A brief history of participation in development 15 Participation and development theory 19 Refraining participation: towards citizenship 111 Transformation 113 The temporal aspects of participation 115 Space 116 Representation 119 Conclusion 20

2 Towards participatory governance: assessing the transformative possibilities 25
JOHN GAVENTA
Relating people and institutions 25 Working both sides of the equation 27 Reconceptualizing participation and citizenship 28 New forms of citizen-state engagement 130 The need for more evidence 131 Assessing power relations in participatory spaces 34 Spaces for participation 135 The visibility of power relationships 37 Conclusion 39

3 Rules of thumb for participatory change agents 42
BILL COOKE
Rule I: Don't work for the World Bank 143 Rule II: Remember: co-optation, co-optation, co-optation 145 Rule III: Data belong to those from whom they were taken 147 Rule IV: Work only in languages you understand as well as your first 148 Rule V: Always work for local rates, or for free 149 Rule VI: Have it done to yourself 50 Rule VII: Historicize theory and practice 51 Conclusion 52
TWO | Rethinking participation

4 Relocating participation within a radical politics of development: critical modernism and citizenship
GILES MOHAN AND SAM HICKEY
Of theory and analysis: relocating and politicizing participatory thinking 160 Relocating participation in a radical theoretical home 160 Critical modernism and the left: between political economy and populism 162 Reconceptualizing participation as citizenship 165 Realizing a project of radical citizenship and critical modernism 169 Conclusion 170

5 Spaces for transformation? reflections on issues of power and difference in participation in development
ANDREA CORNWALL
Spaces for change? 175 Of spaces and places 177 Making spaces I 78 Situating participation 180 Contestation and resistance I 81 Spatial practices, agency and voice 183 Making a difference: towards more transformative participation 185

6 Towards a repoliticization of participatory development: political capabilities and spaces of empowerment
GLYN WILLIAMS
Mainstreaming participation, depoliticizing development 192 Re-evaluating participation: institutional analysis and political capabilities 195 Learning from participation: 'success' and 'failure' in South Asia 198 Towards the repoliticization of participation 1100 Conclusions 1103

THREE | Participation as popular agency: reconnecting with underlying processes of development

7 Participation, resistance and problems with the 'local' in Peru: towards a new political contract?
SUSAN VINCENT
Development and participatory practice 1112 'Been there, done that': a history of participatory development and translocal livelihood in Matachico, Peru 1114 Ways forward: towards a new political contract? 1119

8 The 'transformative' unfolding of 'tyrannical' participation:
the corvee tradition and ongoing local politics in Western Nepal

KATSUHIKO MASAKI

Setting the context: Majuwa and the corvee tradition 1126
Ongoing local politics in Majuwa 1127
Local patterns of participation in flood control projects 1128
Renegotiations of the begaari norm 1130
Non-linear progression of 'participatory' processes 1132
Towards 'transformation'? Participation in the 2001 flood control project 1134
Conclusions: rethinking 'tyranny' and 'transformation' 1136

9 Morality, citizenship and participatory development in an indigenous development association: the case of GPSDO and the Sebat Bet Gurage of Ethiopia

LEROI HENRY

Citizenship and participation 1141
The Sebat Bet Gurage and GPSDO 1143
Gurage migration and citizenship discourses 1144
The process of participation 1147
Sanctions underpinning participation 1149
Volunteerism and leadership 1151
Conclusions 1152

FOUR I Realizing transformative participation in practice: state and civil responses

10 Relocating participation within a radical politics of development: insights from political action and practice

SAM HICKEY AND GILES MOHAN

The pinnacle of participation? PPAs and PRSs 1159
Participatory governance and democratic decentralization 1161
NGOs and participatory development 1163
REFLECT: Regenerated Freirean Literacy through Empowering Community Techniques 1164
NGOs and rights-based approaches 1164
NGO advocacy 1165
Social movements 1166
Identifying the politics of participation as transformation 1168
Conclusion 1170

11 Securing voice and transforming practice in local government: the role of federating in grassroots development

DIANA MITLIN

Beyond developmental NGOs: the power of federating 1175
Transforming models of urban development: Victoria Falls 1999-2002 1177
Land development in Victoria Falls 1179
Reflecting on achievements and emerging lessons 1184
Conclusion 1187

12 Participatory municipal development plans in Brazil: divergent partners constructing common futures 190
GLAUCO REGIS FLORISBELO AND IRENE GUIJT
Local development plans as social innovation in Brazil 1191
The origins of the LDP idea 1195 Comparing Araponga and Tombos 1196 Conclusions 202

13 Confrontations with power: moving beyond 'the tyranny of safety' in participation 205
UTE KELLY
'The tyranny of safety' 206 The School for Peace approach 207
The Commission on Poverty, Participation and Power 210
'Non-phoney' participation: some pointers 213 Remaining questions 214

14 Failing forward: going beyond PRA and imposed forms of participation 219
MARK WADDINGTON AND GILES MOHAN
The disappointments of participation and PRA 219 Rights, citizenship-building and 'deep' political literacy 222 Adapting
REFLECT: Village AiD's experience of Arizama in Northern Ghana 1224 Deep political literacy and transformation: EKANAK in Sierra Leone 230 Conclusion 231

FIVE I Donors and participation: caught between tyranny and transformation 235

15 Participation in poverty reduction strategies: democracy strengthened or democracy undermined? 237
DAVID BROWN
The theoretical basis for participation in PRSP development 237
The World Bank's PRSP Sourcebook 239 The PRSP process in Cameroon 246 Conclusion 249

16 Beyond the technical fix? participation in donor approaches to rights-based development 252
JEREMY HOLLAND, MARY ANN BROCKLESBY AND CHARLES ABUGRE
Rights, participation and institutional change | 253 Rights-based development and 'genuine' participation | 254 Operationalizing the discourse: participatory rights-based assessment | 255 Scoping the institutional context for rights-based assessment | 258 Discussion: can donors drive institutional change? | 259 Conclusion: beyond technical fixes? | 263

six I Broader perspectives on 'from tyranny to transformation' 269

17 The social embeddedness of agency and decision-making 271
FRANCES CLEAVER
Citizenship, agency and culture | 271 Collective action, governance and institutionalizing participation | 274 Conclusion: the partiality of agency, the inequality of structure | 276

18 Theorizing participation and institutional change: ethnography and political economy 278
ANTHONY BEBBINGTON

Contributors 1284
Index 1288