Corporate Responsibility and Labour Rights

Codes of Conduct in the Global Economy

Edited by Rhys Jenkins, Ruth Pearson
and
Gill Seyfang
Contents

Acronyms and abbreviations v
List of figures, tables and boxes viii
Contributors x
Preface — Richard Howitt MEP xiii

Chapter 1 Introduction - Rhys Jenkins, Ruth Pearson and Gill Seyfang 1

PART ONE: CODES OF CONDUCT AND GLOBAL DEREGULATION

Chapter 2 The political economy of codes of conduct — Rhys Jenkins 13
Chapter 3 Labour rights/corporate responsibilities: the role of ILO labour standards — Jill Murray 31
Chapter 4 'I'll tell you what I want…': women workers and codes of conduct — Ruth Pearson and Gill Seyfang 43
Chapter 5 Mapping codes through the value chain: from researcher to detective - Stephanie Barrientos 61

PART TWO: CODES OF CONDUCT - PERSPECTIVES FROM STAKEHOLDERS IN THE GLOBAL PRODUCTION CHAINS

Stakeholder perspectives
Chapter 6 Beyond codes: lessons from the Pentland experience — Lesley Roberts 79
Chapter 7 The international trade union movement and the new codes of conduct — Dwight W. Justice 90
Chapter 8 The emperor's new clothes: what codes mean for workers in the garment industry — Linda Shaw and Angela Hale 101
Chapter 9 Can codes of conduct help home-based workers? — Lucy Brill 113
Regional perspectives
Chapter 10 'Made in China': rules and regulations versus codes of conduct in the toy sector — Alice Kwan and Stephen Frost 124
Chapter 11 The contradictions in codes: the Sri Lankan experience - Kelly Dent 135
Chapter 12 The potential of codes as part of women's organizations' strategies for promoting the rights of women workers: a Central America perspective — Marina Prieto, Angela Hadjipateras and Jane Turner 146
Chapter 13 The fox guarding the chicken coop: garment industry monitoring in Los Angeles — Laura Dubinsky 160

Practical issues in developing and implementing codes
Chapter 14 Working with codes: perspectives from the Clean Clothes Campaign — Nina Ascoli and Ineke Zeldenrust 172
Chapter 15 ETI: a multi-stakeholder approach - Mick Blowfield 184
Chapter 16 Monitoring the monitors: a critique of third-party labour monitoring — Dara O'Rourke 196
Chapter 17 Code monitoring in the informal Fair Trade sector: the experience of Oxfam GB - Rachel Wilshaw 209

Appendix I Useful web sites 222
Index 224